DETAILED ACTION

Claims 12-95 were cancelled in the Response to the Restriction Requirement that was mailed 7 January 2005. Only claims 1-11, drawn to the elected invention remain pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 6 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Martinez et al, newly cited.

The reference to Martinez et al teaches the manufacture of rubber composition comprising a cured fluorocarbon elastomer dispersed in a matrix comprising a thermoplastic material, wherein the thermoplastic material comprises a non-fluorine containing thermoplastic polymer, wherein the cured fluorocarbon elastomer is present at a level of greater than or equal to 35% by weight based on the total weight of cured fluorocarbon elastomer and thermoplastic material. Note the Abstract, components (a) and (c), the paragraph bridging column 1 to column 2 for weight percents, which at 35 to 80 weight percent embraces the cured fluorocarbon elastomer, as recited herein in claims 1 and 2. The fluoroelastomer may comprise repeating units derived from tetrafluoroethylene and propylene, as recited in claim 3, may comprise repeating units derived from vinylidene fluoride and hexafluoropropylene, as recited in claim 6, at the paragraph bridging column 2 to column 3, or may comprise repeating units derived from tetrafluoroethylene and perfluoroalkylvinyl ethers, wherein the perfluoroalkyl vinyl ether contains 1 to 6 carbons in the perfluoroalkyl group, as recited in claim 9, at column 2 (lines 42-62).

Claims 1-3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Sakai et al, newly cited.

The reference to Sakai et al teaches the manufacture of rubber composition comprising a cured fluorocarbon elastomer dispersed in a matrix comprising a thermoplastic material, wherein the thermoplastic material comprises a non-fluorine containing thermoplastic polymer, wherein the cured fluorocarbon elastomer is present at a level of greater than or equal to 35% by weight based on the total weight of cured fluorocarbon elastomer and thermoplastic material. Note the Abstract and the paragraph bridging column 1 to column 2, which at 35 to 95 weight percent embraces the cured fluorocarbon elastomer, as recited herein for claims 1 and 2. The fluoroelastomer may comprise repeating units derived from tetrafluoroethylene and propylene, as recited in claim 3, at column 2 (lines 9-27), or may comprise repeating units derived from vinylidene fluoride and hexafluoropropylene, as recited in claim 6, at the column 5 (lines 57-61).

The references to Tabb ('866) and ('028) and Chmielewski are all cited of interest. Each reference is drawn to the manufacture of fluorine-containing elastomer blends. In both Tabb ('866) and ('028) a fluorine-containing elastomer and a non-fluorine-containing elastomer are blended and subsequently vulcanized. Note the Abstract of each. The reference to Chmielewski teaches the blend of a fluorine-containing elastomer with another fluorine-containing elastomer. Note the Abstract. Neither reference is deemed to present a bar to the patentability of the instant claims.
